PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR NEW MEXICO TENNIS TOURNAMENT

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Roswell, N. M., June 6.—Active preparations will begin this week for the New Mexico state championship tennis tournament which will be held in this city beginning on Labor day.

The executive committee of the local club will have a meeting and outline plans for this year's meet, the third held in the state. It is thought that the entries this year will be at least double those of last year, when there were nearly fifty players entered.

Not only will there be many players from El Paso, Tucson, Douglas, Phoenix and Bismarck, but New Mexico will furnish a large number. It is thought that there will be several from the northern part of the state.

An effort will be made to get players here from Las Vegas, Reno, Santa Fe and Albuquerque, Clifton, which had four representatives last year. Alamogordo is expected to send a few players. Las Cruces will probably have the largest delegation.

The big thing the local committee hopes to accomplish this year is to overcome the impression that only excellent players are eligible. The tournament is more in the nature of an outing for the promotion of good sportsmanship.

N. A. Ferguson of El Paso now holds the state championship in singles, and with Paul de Jette of Mesquite, holds the doubles title. Stonehill of Clifton last year won the veterans' singles, an event which is open only to players over 40 years old. In the doubles, Dr. Ladd, president of the New Mexico agricultural college, and B. H. Bassett, of this city, won the veterans' title.

SEVENTY-NINE ARE KILLED IN STORM

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Little Rock, Ark., June 7.—Seventy-nine persons were killed Monday in the series of tornadoes that swept Arkansas from end to end. A revision of casualty lists tonight contained the names of that many victims of the storm who were killed outright, and the names of 100 others who were injured. A score of the injured are in a serious condition.

Sixty of the dead were white persons. As communication was re-established today with sections which had been cut off from the outside world since the storm, stories of widespread devastation came to light.

While an estimate of property loss has come from any official source, it is believed the damage will amount to more than $1,000,000. Appeals for aid were received here from Heber Springs, where twenty-two persons were killed, and from Cabot. The Little Rock board of commerce sent two trained nurses to Heber Springs, and has started raising a relief fund.

Reports that raids are to be made into Texas on Saturday, June 10, have caused much excitement in Nuevo Laredo, and many Mexican families are leaving for Monterrey.

MAY UNTANGLE MEXICAN KNOT BY COMMISSION

Administration Seriously Considering the Submission of All Differences to Decision of International Body.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, June 7.—A proposal to General Carranza that the United States and the Mexican de facto government submit the whole subject of their relations to an international commission is being seriously considered by the administration.

Such a proposal, if it is made, will serve as a reply to the Mexican note demanding withdrawal of the American troops, and may contemplate adjustment of many unsettled differences that for years have caused accumulating embarrassment in the relations of the two nations. Settlement by a commission is provided for expressly by the treaty of 1848 which provides that "should such a course be proposed by either party, it shall be accepted by the other unless deemed by it altogether incompatible with the nature of the defense or the circumstances of the case."

Believed to Be Solution.

Many officials believe such a discussion of all disputed matters would do much to solve the difficulties which government has encountered in getting a clear view of the purposes of the other, and in making its own position clear. In addition to military questions, there are far reaching economic conditions now greatly complicated by the European war.

Coming down from bygone years are unsettled questions as to certain portions of the international boundary. Out of the Vera Cruz incident arose new problems which must be cleared up sooner or later, including disposition of the customs revenues collected by General Escobar amounting to more than $1,000,000, and now deposited in this country. There are also claims for property damage at Vera Cruz, long pieced-together in the navy department.

Question of Indemnity.

Most far-reaching of all, however, is the question of indemnification for American lives lost and American property destroyed or damaged, during the years of revolution in Mexico. No attempt has been to set up an estimate of the amount involved in those claims, but all are recorded at the state department awaiting restoration of order and peace in Mexico for a day of settlement.

While the commission suggestion may not propose to go into a board discussion of all those matters, it seems likely that each will have its bearing upon the deliberations. For this reason, it is thought the American membership of the commission would be so chosen that the military, commercial and financial interests of the nation would all be represented.

Far Reaching Effect Possible.

Out of this deliberation, which it is believed General Carranza would welcome, officials believe there might come some definite understanding as to the purposes of the Washington government that it would have its effect not only in Mexico but also in all Latin-America, and make toward a furtherance of the friendly relations between the nations of the west hemisphere.

MIRACULOUS CURES BY SCHLATTER CLAIMED

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
New York, June 7.—Witnesses who told of men "miraculously cured" of various diseases by the Rev. Francis Schlatter through prayer and "the laying on of hands," testified before United States Commissioner Houghton today in proceedings instituted to resist the removal of the so-called "Messiah of New Mexico," and Rev. August Alquist to Los Angeles, where they are under indictment on charges of using the mails to defraud.

The witnesses testified to having been cured of tuberculosis, rheumatism, catarrh and other maladies. No money was asked by Schlatter, they said, but several admitted they had made "donations." One woman testified that the healer gave her money when he learned she was poor.

Counsel for the defendants declared the indictment did not show a crime against the United States. In support of his contention, he presented a copy of the articles of incorporation of the Baptist church of Oakland, Calif., of which both defendants appear as incorporators and directors, and which showed the church was organized for "divine healing," as referred to in certain chapters of the Bible. Schlatter is charged with having sent through the mails handkerchiefs he had blessed, which were supposed to be applied to the affected part of the body in curing disease.

Six arrests have been made.

'CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS' PLY SPADE, NOT GUN

Get Same Pay as Men in Trenches, Plus Extra Meat Allowance Given to Laborers.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
British Headquarters in France, May 17.—Unique among all the varied units of the armies on the continent is the British non-combatant corps—the conscientious objectors, who do not want to fight and who are not expected to fight. Not for fear but conscience is their reason for being excused.

In England, where individual rights are so strongly recognized, the quaker is not required to bear arms because it is against his religious scruples.

Won't Fight; Must Work.

When compulsion was applied, another class arose. They said they had conscientious scruples against the taking of life. If they would not fight then they must work, the government decided. Where a man who enters the army under normal conditions must drill for many months before he is sent to the front, the conscientious objector is given a few days of drill, put in khaki, and sent to France at once. There he wields the spade instead of the rifle.

There are the N. C. C.'s doing their bit," said their commander, an officer with a strip of colors on his breast, who had been in several campaigns and was so badly wounded in this war that he was hardly fit for active service. "They get the same pay as the men in the trenches and the same rations, with the extra allowance of meat which is given to the laborers' corps."

Are Laughing-Stock.

At the time, the N. C. C.'s were engaged in some railway work. Virtually all are men unused to manual labor; but though it was pretty hard at first they said they would be used to it in time. One was a B. A. of Cambridge university. None had any complaints to make. The majority were clerks, and those who were not were usually shopkeepers. Many were members of the Plymouth Brethren, a sect which holds much the same views as the Quakers. These said that it was against their creed to fight and they would not renounce their creed. They spoke quite frankly about the charge of cowardice which is made against them, and seemed to realize that they were the anathema and laughing-stock of the millions of their fellow countrymen who are offering their lives for Britain.

"I do not intend to kill anybody. I do not believe in war," one said. As an exponent of the positive resistance he was ready to work at command, but no powers could make him fight. "If I am sent up to work under shell fire I think you will find that most of us will not flinch," he added.

Conversation "Intellectual."

One of the unilitary characteristics which amuse the average British soldier is that the N. C. C.'s all address one another as "intellect." One mentioned that their conversation around the mess table was very "intellectual" and thoroughly enjoyable.

"If you want any proof that England is a free country," said a sergeant of regulars, "you have it in this lot. How much of a chance would a band of conscientious objectors stand in the German army? Meanwhile the fighting army protects them from the enemy and from public opinion. But let them have their way. There aren't many of them."

A shirker may not suddenly become a conscientious objector in order to escape service. Any one who aspires to the N. C. C. must prove that he held conscientious scruples against fighting before the war. One conscientious objector has already deserted. This backslider decided to fight and he is back in England drinking in a line regiment.

WARS OF PAST CENTURY COSTLY TO EUROPE

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Paris, May 15.—Wars cost Europe from the beginning of the nineteenth century up to August, 1914, about 65,000,000 francs, or not half of what the belligerent powers have already expended during the present conflict, according to statistics compiled by Edmond Thierry, the French economist, and published in an article written to indicate the proportion of the cost of war.

The fifteen years of war waged by Napoleon increased the public debt of France by 585,000,000 francs, while the Crimean war alone cost the republic 1,600,000,000 francs, according to Thierry. Great Britain spent 1,550,000,000 in the Crimean, while that war cost Austria 275,000,000 and Turkey and Serbia together 442,000,000 francs.

France spent 650,000,000 francs on the Mexican war, he says, and 855,000,000 in the conflict against Austria for the liberation of Italy.

Prussia in her wars against Denmark and Austria spent about 2,000,000,000 francs, while the German states and France together spent about 14,000,000,000 on the war of 1870, including 5,000,000,000 francs indemnity paid by France to Germany. The war of 1871-78 against Turkey cost Russia about 2,500,000,000 francs, while she spent 6,500,000,000 in the war with Japan against 4,500,000,000 spent by Japan.

HIGH SCHOOL OF FUTURE MUST DO PRACTICAL GOOD

Superintendent Claxton Gives Views on Educational Needs of Country at Conference Now Going on in Las Vegas

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Las Vegas, N. M., June 7.—That the United States is facing serious problems which may be solved only by universal high school education of young people of high school age was the statement of United States Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton, in addressing the conference of state educators and a large gathering of summer school students and townspeople in the Duncan Opera house tonight.

Mr. Claxton asserted that this education must not be of the traditional high school type, which he characterized as adapted practically to the needs only of those who wish to fit themselves for the professions or those who desire only a classical education. "The instruction must be fitted for equipping young people for work. The young man must be taught how to develop the natural resources of the communities in which they live and must learn of mining, farming, engineering, business methods and social welfare."

Advocates Vocational Training.

Mr. Claxton, in short, advocates vocational training in its highest sense. He said this especially is needed in New Mexico. The speaker listed his reasons for advancing such a theory upon the great growth of the United States in population and wealth, which, he said, will bring about congestion and serious problems of capital and labor, distribution of wealth, transportation and the provision of food and clothing. He said the solution of these questions will be done only by the highest class of education, one of the qualifications of which must be liberal and practical education. He spoke against "top-heavy" education, the instruction of the richer classes while the poorer classes remain in ignorance. He gave Mexico as an example of the futility of such a system.

Mr. Claxton said that the three factors in the production of wealth in any state must be the natural resources, the native ability of the people and acquired ability, or education.
